Ike Awaits Dewey For Policy Talk

AUGUSTA, Ga. (P)—President-elect Eisenhower awaited the arrival here today of Gov. Thomas E. Dewey for a policy conference dealing with Korea and other problems facing the new Republican administration.

The New York governor, mentioned as a possible choice for a cabinet post, was scheduled to arrive by train to talk over the general's forthcoming trip to the Korean War zone and to explore matters likely to come up for discussion when Eisenhower confers with President Truman next Tuesday.

9 Die In Fire In Massachusetts

Mother, 8 Children Home Blaze Victims

WESTPORT, Mass. (P)—A mother and eight children perished early today in a fire at their home while the only two survivors of the family, the father and a son, were away at work.

Mrs. Mary T. Audette, 44, and her children were suffocated by smoke and intense heat carried to their upstairs bedrooms from a fire in the kitchen.

The children ranged in age from 3 to 17.

The bodies of four of the younger children were found on the floor as though they tried to escape before being overcome.

The mother and four children were dead in their beds.

The children's father, Aladdin, 47, and an older brother, Daniel, 19, were at work on the overnight shift at the Berkshire Fine Spinning Mill in adjacent Fall River.

The heat in the upstairs bedrooms, although not heavily damaged by the flames, was so intense that firemen had to water down the rooms for 15 minutes before they could get to the bodies from ladders.

Police Chief Charles Dean estimated the fire burned for about a half hour before being spotted by neighbors.

News of the tragedy was telephoned to the father at his place of work by neighbors.

Manuel Rego, Audette's co-worker, said he took the call and summoned Audette to the telephone.

"He didn't say a word," Rego said. "He was so completely stunned for several seconds that he couldn't say anything. Then he handed me the tools he had in his hand and ran out of the plant."

"We all like Mr. Audette here," Rego added. "He was completely devoted to his family. He held down two jobs so he could support the kids properly. He worked here nights and for a moving company days."

Ike's Emissary Looks At Dems' Secret Files

Sen. Lodge's Mission Paves Way For Talk By General, Truman

WASHINGTON (P)—The Truman administration opened its secret diplomatic and military files today for President-elect Eisenhower's advance emissary with Korea presumably heading the discussion list.

Sen. Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. of Massachusetts—designated by Eisenhower to represent him at the State, Defense and possibly other departments—arrived last night and was ready to confer with top officials in those agencies today.

His mission was regarded as preparatory to Eisenhower's conference Tuesday with President Truman. The purpose is to pave the way for a smooth transfer of the government from Democratic to Republican hands Jan. 20.

Indications were that Truman directed his officials to co-operate fully in providing information to Lodge just as facts on the next government budget already are being laid before Eisenhower's special representative to the Budget Bureau, Joseph M. Dodge, who arrived Wednesday.

Lodge told reporters at Washington Airport last night he might have a confidential report ready for the Eisenhower-Truman conference. He said he had no hard-and-fast plans about how to gather his information, would begin today arranging appointments and anticipated no difficulty in securing access to confidential data.

Lodge one of the early backers of Eisenhower for president was defeated for re-election by Democrat John Kennedy, now a representative. When asked, Lodge said he did not "know anything" about his being mentioned as possibly Eisenhower's secretary of state or secretary of defense. He indicated he did not expect to accompany Eisenhower on the President-elect's planned trip to Korea.

At the State Department Undersecretary David Bruce in the absence of Secretary Acheson reportedly was ready to give Lodge "any information he wants." Acheson is attending the United Nations sessions in New York City.

Officials said that of all the problems which Gen. Eisenhower should be informed about, the most urgent is the discussion in the United Nations about how to get a truce in the Korean War. Specifically the question is: How to break the U.N.-Communist deadlock over repatriation of prisoners of war?

U. N. Counsel's Death Leap Touches Off Controversy

DIES IN PLUNGE—Abraham H. Feller (above), special counsel to Trygve Lie, United Nations Secretary General, plunged 12 floors to his death from his apartment overlooking New York City's Central Park. Police said that the 47-year-old Feller had been in poor health. South Koreans Battle Way Up Pinpoint Hill

Chinese Reds' Troops, Artillery Deny ROKs Crest In Bloody Fight

SEOUL (P)—Counterattacking South Koreans and die-hard Chinese Communists locked in confused battle as darkness and a blinding ground fog fell on blood-soaked Pinpoint Hill tonight.

AP war correspondent John Randolph, reporting from the Central Front, said the Reds' furious artillery and stubborn infantry resistance combined to deny South Koreans recapture Pinpoint—dominant height on Sniper Ridge today.

Lt. Col. Harrison A. Markham said after an investigation at the front that one South Korean was made ill by fumes of picric acid. Such fumes are a by-product of artillery shell explosions, particularly if the explosive powder is old.

Another South Korean soldier, found unconscious but with no visible injury marks, was determined to have been knocked out by a flying log when an artillery shell blew up a bunker.

Ohio Legislators Involved In Scraps To Pick Leaders

COLUMBUS, O. (AP)—State legislators who fought and won primary and general election battles now are involved in scraps to pick leaders of the next General Assembly.

Democrats and Republicans of both the Senate and House of Representatives will caucus before long to agree on the men for the top jobs. They are speaker of the House, majority and minority floor leaders and clerks of both houses.

The prevailing selections in the closed door meeting usually are binding on the party members who will open the 100th General Assembly Jan. 5.

Because Republicans again outnumber Democrats they will select the ranking officers except the president of the Senate. That officer is the lieutenant governor who is elected by the voters.

The new presiding officer of the Senate will be Mayor John W. Brown of Medina who won election over Lt. Gov. George D. Nye of Waverly, a Democrat.

The speaker, or presiding officer of the House, will be selected at a GOP caucus Dec. 8. Rep. George H. Kirkpatrick (R-Knox), elected to his ninth term, called the meeting and will serve as chairman.

Top contenders for the gavel-wielding job are the present speaker, Rep. Gordon Renner (R-Hamilton), and Rep. William Saxbe (R-Champaign), the present majority floor leader, or speaker pro tempore.

Others mentioned for consideration were Reps. Kenneth A. Robinson (R-Marion) and Roger Cloud (R-Logan). All except Renner are from predominantly agricultural counties. They look to the rural faction in the House for backing.

If Renner retains the speaker's job, the majority floor leader presumably would be from a rural county. Should a rural representative become speaker, the majority leader probably would be from a metropolitan county.

House Democrats have yet to set a date for selection of a minority floor leader to succeed Rep. James M. Carney (D-Cuyahoga) who made an unsuccessful bid for nomination for U. S. senator.

Contenders mentioned for that post include Reps. A. G. Lancione (D-Belmont), James J. McGettrick (D-Cuyahoga) and Jesse Yoder (D-Montgomery). Lancione has held both majority and minority House posts.

McGettrick reportedly has the backing of Carney and Cuyahoga

County Democratic Chairman Ray Miller. Twelve of the county's 17 representatives are Democrats and are expected to aid McGettrick. In event of a split in the party delegation, Rep. Joseph H. Avelone hopes to get consideration.

The Senate Democratic caucus date also is indefinite.

Reports indicate when Republicans get together, possibly this month, they will agree on Sen. C. Stanley Mechem (R-Athens) as majority floor leader, or president pro tem. He is chairman of the present Senate Finance Committee. Another possibility is Sen. William H. Daddens (R-Hamilton).

The current Senate Republican leader, Sen. Roscoe R. Walcutt of Columbus, did not seek reelection in order to run for the GOP gubernatorial nomination.

Senate Democrats may run into a scrap over Sen. Joseph W. Bartunek's attempt to retain the minority leadership. The Cleveland has opposition from Sen. Anthony J. Celebrezze, also from Cuyahoga County.

When Senate Democrats caucus, they expect to meet in Cleveland at the call of Sen. Frank J. Svoboda (D-Cuyahoga), ranking party member.

Senate Clerk Thomas E. Bateman of Columbus and House Clerk Carl Guess of Carrollton expect to retain their jobs.

The new Senate will have 23 Republicans and 10 Democrats, compared with 26 Republicans and 7 Democrats in the present Senate.

The new House apparently will have 102 Republicans and 34 Democrats. Counts for one representative in Cuyahoga County and one in Montgomery County still hang in the balance. The present House originally had 98 Republicans, 36 Democrats and one independent, nominally a Democrat.

Dewey Says He Won't Take Cabinet Post

NEW YORK (AP)—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey said today "there is no possibility" of his taking a cabinet post in the Eisenhower administration.

He made the statement as he left by Eastern Airlines plane this morning for Augusta, Ga., to confer with President-elect Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Dewey repeated he intends to complete his term as governor, which ends January, 1955.

Travel Diary Notes

By HAL BOYLE

ENROUTE FROM EUROPE

Notes from a travel diary: Going through Europe builds you down and tears you up. It confuses an out-of-towner.

As a visitor, your duty is always to go and loyally inspect the famous local ruins, shake your head and ponder aloud how such a wonderful civilization could perish.

The next thing is to admire the local art works.

For some reason beyond his own actual desires the tourist is supposed to be panting to creak his neck upward at the famous top-of-the-wall drawings of Michelangelo and his students.

Navy Ship, Tanker Collide; 5 Killed

NORFOLK, Va. (AP)—A fast Navy attack transport engaged in amphibious warfare maneuvers and the Texas Co. tanker Washington collided 50 miles east of Cape Henry today with a toll placed by the Navy at five dead and six injured.

The Navy said all casualties were among Army personnel aboard the transport Ruchamkin. There were no injuries reported among the Ruchamkin's crew or aboard the 10,000-ton Washington. The tanker continued to Philadelphia.

The dead and injured were transferred from the Ruchamkin to the U. S. S. Fremont, flagship of Capt. C. M. Day, attack force commander, and are expected to arrive at the Norfolk Naval Base this morning.

Naval spokesmen said the five men killed and the six injured were attached to the intelligence and reconnaissance platoon of the 278th Infantry Regiment Combat team, formerly a Tennessee National Guard outfit.

IN THE SERVICE

Lowell M. Honeywell, aviation machinist's mate with the U. S. Navy, is currently serving with the Air Development Squadron in Chincoteague, Va.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry M. Honeywell and the husband of Mrs. Ernestine Honeywell, of RD 2, Salem.

William E. Stanley, son of Mrs. William Potts of 1500 N. Ellsworth Ave. and husband of Mrs. Evelyn M. Stanley, of Elkton, recently received an advancement to the rate of aviation electrician's mate third class with the U. S. Navy. He is serving in Norfolk, Va.

Pvt. Leroy C. Pyatt, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Pyatt, Sr. of 518 Ohio Ave., has completed army auto mechanics training with the 3rd Armored Division at Fort Knox, Ky.

During the 10 week course which consisted of 480 hours of classroom study and practical work, he attended classes in shop safety, automotive maintenance, and the proper use of tools. Upon graduation he was awarded the job title of wheel vehicle mechanic.

Lt. Thomas J. Lang, husband of the former Barbara Pedersen of Salem, has graduated from Officers Candidate School, Fort Benning, Ga.

Having recently spent a visit with Mrs. Lang's parents, Mr. and Mrs. N. A. Pedersen of S. Lincoln Ave., Lt. Lang will report for duty at Camp Atterbury, Ind., where he and his wife will make their home.

George Roher, who has concluded a furlough with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Roher of Newgarden ave. is stationed at Grosse Ile, Mich. He enlisted in the navy more than a year ago. His address is: George Roher, Air Maintenance, NAS Gross Ile, Mich.

some heralded maestro of the brush.

But in many cases the reproductions we studied in childhood are better than the remnants left. Sometimes to see them in being is a sad shock, like leaving your mother young and fair and re- turning in after years to find her bent and old. Such was the feeling I had on actually viewing "The Last Supper" on a wall in Milan.

Mark Twain once bitterly remarked that anything was immortal that was remembered 100 years. Well, I feel culture is only the nucleus you cling to of all the things you are exposed to, the central hulk with meaning and feeling.

And after being exposed to all the antique art of Europe, I like to feel that a hundred years from now I could come home on a Long Island train at twilight and see the swordfish tower of the Chrysler Bldg. stab a dying sky and still know a sense of warmness and belonging that I think is the effect of true art.

The thing about most American art is that we have, in a larger measure than any people before us, built our art so deeply into our daily lives that we, as well as the rest of the world, sometimes miss its spaciousness.

Can't you just visualize a visitor from Mars, studying his guide book and saying to a friend:

"Well, we only have a few hours left on earth. What do you want to see—Times Sq., the Pyramids or a painting by that fellow Raphael in Rome?"

And don't you know the answer now I could come home on a Long any honest tourist would give?

District Friends To Hear Dr. R. K. Storey On Sunday

Dr. R. K. Storey, president of Frankfort College, Frankfort, Ind., will be guest speaker at three missionary services in this district Sunday. They are being held in recognition of Laymen's Missionary Day.

The first service at 11 a.m., will be held in the Salem First Friends Church under the direction of the Men's Missionary Movement of which Kenneth Howell is president.

Dr. Storey, member of the Pilgrim Holiness Church, was formerly engaged in mission work at Cabanatuan, Luzon Island, Philippines. During World War II, he and his family were interned by the Japanese and spent several years in a concentration camp. The minister will relate some of his war experiences.

The Quaker Tones Quartet (Clarence Townsend, Milford Landwert, Robert Ellyson and Samuel Rea, Jr.) will provide special music. Mr. Townsend, World War II veteran, became acquainted with Dr. Storey at Cabanatuan.

The second service will be in the form of a missionary rally at 2:30 p.m. in the Beloit Friends Church. This is sponsored by the Men's Missionary Movement of Damascus Quarterly Meeting of Friends, headed by Mr. Townsend. Paul Roher of Winona, formerly of Salem, is the secretary. The Quaker Tones will sing.

Dr. Storey

Final service of the day will be held at 7:30 p.m. in the Damascus Friends Church. This will be under the direction of the Men's Missionary Movement of that church. Herbert Whitcher is the president. Mrs. Storey will accompany her husband. They will be entertained at the homes of H. C. Stratton, Buckeye Ave., and Clarence Townsend, South Ave.

Ike Expected To Meet Rhee During Korea Trip

PUSAN, Korea (AP)—A government spokesman said today U. S. President-elect Dwight Eisenhower probably will meet President Syngman Rhee around Seoul in top secrecy.

The government has called off for security reasons a big reception for Eisenhower in Seoul, the spokesman, Clarence Ryee, said.

Reports indicate a blackout will cover Eisenhower's trip to Korea until the President-elect is safely out of reach of potential Communist moves against him.

New Wingless Plane Will Be Redesigned

SANTA ANA, Calif. (AP)—A wingless plane that made a forced landing in a plowed field on its maiden flight yesterday, is going to be tried again after its builder, William E. Horton, does some redesigning.

"Back to the drawing board," Horton quipped to newsmen. "I'm convinced the design is sound, but it needs a lot more improvements—a lot more development."

The strange-looking craft took off from Orange County Airport yesterday, flew low over the ground for about a mile, dipped dangerously near high tension lines, but landed without damage in an open field.

Horton, who has worked almost alone for the last 18 months on the experimental plane, had planned to be in the air for about an hour on the flight. Instead, he was aloft only two minutes.

The plane has stubby eight-foot control flaps on either side, is 26 feet wide and 40 feet long. The fuselage is virtually a wing in itself.

4 Bodies Found In Wreckage Of Navy Plane

SHELTON, Wash. (AP)—The charred and tangled wreckage of a Navy plane which exploded against a hillside Wednesday night with 11 men aboard has yielded four broken bodies and the remainder are being sought today.

The wreckage, scattered over a wide area of the forested Olympic Mountains foothill 15 miles northwest of here, was found by search parties last night.

They had been directed to the scene by residents of the area who saw the Seattle-based, four-engine plane pass low overhead and then crash with a roar and blinding flash into the 2,200 foot hill.

The plane was found at the 1,800 foot level. The bodies were burned beyond recognition and the Navy said there was "no reason to believe there had been any survivors."

Included among those lost in the accident was Capt. G. R. Dyson, 48, commander of Fleet Air Wing Four, who had gone along as an observer. The plane, on a training mission, was from a patrol squadron at Sand Point Naval Air Station, Seattle.

Koreans Can Read Too

A further measure of the Korean Tangle which a new United States government must handle is supplied by the Korean statement in the United Nations.

Korea's hope of independence was backed up late in 1943 by a pledge of eventual freedom made by the Allies in the Cairo conference. The hope of independence had taken form when the Koreans were encouraged to believe they could earn their sovereignty by siding with the United States against Japan in 1942. Their revolt against the Japanese had qualified them, they contended, to stand with the Allies on a basis of equality.

When the war ended, they were reassured by prompt U. S. occupation of the territory south of the 38th parallel — an arbitrary boundary. But they were made uneasy by the fact the Soviet Union was in North Korea.

They recognized that their independence and their unity were in danger. They were correct. That is the background of their U. N. statement that Koreans want no part of a truce which would leave their country divided and occupied by foreign troops.

That may be the background of an American policy which has discouraged development of a Korean army strong enough to defend all of Korea, not just the part south of the 38th parallel.

There is more, much more, for Dwight Eisenhower to learn in Korea than whether or not United States troops are getting enough ammunition. The fate of a republic is being decided there by outsiders with guns and bombs.

Morse Code

Wondering what is to become of Wayne Morse, the political apple-polisher from Oregon, is a barren pastime right now, but Hubert Humphrey has a suggestion.

He thinks Morse should join the Humphreys, who have joined the Wyatts, who have joined the Stevensons and together they would constitute a party.

This party, which would call itself the Democratic party, thereupon would throw out all Democrats who do not like the Morse, Humphreys, Wyatts, Stevensons and also the Bogarts, Bacalls, Steins, Lehman, Wouks and assorted political oddities who turned up in the recent churning of troubled waters.

In brief, Morse would be traded for the bona fide Democrats who choked up on the oddities and refused to become their bedfellows for the dubious purpose of making it appear that Americans for Democratic Action was the Democratic party in 1952.

The proposal is worthy of the senator from Minnesota. Apparently he has not heard about the election. There were nine states in the Democratic column. They represent the hard core of the Democratic party, and some of them could have been clipped off with a little effort.

If anyone is going to get thrown out of the Democratic party, the throwing will be done by the surviving Democrats — crusty characters from places called Arkansas, Louisiana, Mississippi, Alabama, Georgia, South Carolina, North Carolina, Virginia and Kentucky.

Speaking Of Revolutions

The idea of revolution does not fit into the patterns of moderate thought. But with a little imagination, it can be understood that a political revolution has occurred in the United States.

A vast and determined bloc of Americans who had been taking it in the neck ever since the New Deal hotspurs learned to ride roughshod over them rose up in their wrath and rid themselves of hotspurring.

One thinks in this connection of the attempt by men like Hubert Humphrey and Blair Moody to purge the Democratic party of its old-line members last July at the party convention. One thinks of the significance of Adlai Stevenson's decision to let Wilson Wyatt and Americans for Democratic Action manage his presidential campaign.

And then one thinks if he thinks of the inability of these people to withstand the surge of votes which washed them into oblivion. Their claim that they had become the only hope of the Democratic party was obliterated.

They failed to carry a single state. They were a liability.

They finally made it clear to moderates of both parties that creeping socialism and galloping statism had gone as far as they could go without repudiation. The repudiation was bipartisan, and it was severe.

If the hotspurs are so dull they do not understand what this meant, they will give themselves the coup de grace by setting up their own minority party. It would be better that way.

All they offer America is their assumption that they alone knew what is good for it and that what is good for it is sweaty-handed authoritarian rule. They deserve a more definitive fate than dying on the vine.

They might as well organize their own party now, under its true colors, and make certain of their destruction.

Due For Surprises

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Ike To Seek Best Men In Both Parties

The American people—including many of those citizens who didn't vote for Gen. Eisenhower because they believed some of the things they were told about him by the partisans—are in for some surprises.

Just as the attack on Eisenhower before the National Conventions last summer has since that time been proved to be largely fallacious, so also will many of the inferences and implications heard in the political battle that followed the conventions be proved to be without basis.

Here are some of them:

1.—Before the Conventions, Ike was represented as a "stooge" of Truman. Nobody reading the attack on Eisenhower by Truman and Stevenson during the campaign could justly conclude by election day that Ike was part and parcel of the Democratic administration.

2.—Before the conventions, it was said that Ike wouldn't criticize the Acheson foreign policy, especially as to China. He did so nevertheless and made Korea a paramount issue.

3.—Just after the Conventions, it was said that Ike would be a "captive" of Dewey, who really had a great deal to do with steering him toward the nomination. But the New York governor wasn't the only man in the Eisenhower councils during the campaign. There were many others, representing all factions of the party.

4.—After the Conventions, it was said that Eisenhower had "surrendered" to conservative Sen. Taft and had repudiated the "progressive" wing of his party led by Gov. Dewey and Gov. Warren. Yet the New York governor is to confer next week with Gen. Eisenhower and he or some of his colleagues will play an important part in the new administration—Sen. Lodge, for instance, will be in the cabinet and maybe John Foster Dulles will be secretary of state. Governor Warren is to be a principal consultant and might even be made attorney general.

5.—After the conventions, it was said—especially in Europe—that Gen. Eisenhower had swallowed Sen. Taft's views on international policy and had therefore become an "isolationist," for he favors an "isolationist." The Ohio senator is of course, not an "isolationist," for he favors international cooperation.

As leader of the Senate, he will have the same problem that the late Sen. Vandenberg had in trying to keep the Republican party united in support of treaties and international agreements made by the United States with other nations. There will be no swing to "isolationism" and no swing toward letting Europe have money without limit for economic rehabilitation or military purposes.

It will be a revision of appropriations that not only the Republican party, with one or two exceptions, but many of the Southern Democrats will support.

6.—After the conventions, it was said that, having a "military mind," Gen. Eisenhower would be anxious to enlarge the war, especially in the Far East. Bevan and his extremists are saying the same thing now in Britain. But the general will be found to be striving more to win the "cold war" and prevent World War III than to compel any showdown on the military side.

7.—After the Conventions, it was said that Gen. Eisenhower had become anti-labor. But it will be found that he will consult equally leader of labor unions and outsize groups.

Probably Harold Stassen will be the secretary of labor. This would be a far cry from an "anti-labor" set-up.

These are but a few of the surprises that are in store for those persons who sized up Eisenhower according to the misleading and inaccurate appraisals made by his campaign opponents for political purposes.

The general is very likely to be a national president who seeks the best men in both political parties. Bipartisanship in foreign policy will not be a gesture but a real plan for two-party cooperation.

Already the president-elect is giving an example of fairness and even-handedness in dealing with the factions within his party. He is, moreover, handling himself with dignity and with courtesy toward his defeated opponents.

It may be that he will consider appointing Gov. Stevenson to a post of importance in the international field, possibly at the head of the American delegation to the United Nations.

It is significant to note, too, that the general didn't take offense at the very sarcastic comment in the message from President Truman to him the day after election when the President said he would put his plane at the disposal of the general "if you still desire to go to Korea."

The innuendo that the president-elect would consider backing out on his spectacular pledge, now that he had won the election, was uncalled for, but Gen. Eisenhower ignored it.

The way the president-elect will work is to pick men who have an intimate knowledge of governmental affairs and ask them for their opinions and for the facts—and then he'll make up his own mind.

He will make mistakes just as his predecessors have, but the spirit of conscientious devotion to duty which the general will reflect cannot but make his mistakes subject to correction once he recognizes the errors.

It is a safe assumption that, while Gen. Eisenhower will not be a partisan president, he will not hesitate to build up the Republican party for its congressional test in 1954 and for the big campaign of 1956.

An Ancestor Who Lipped

By TRUMAN TWILL

Among those of us who trace our ancestry no further back than the crayon portraits in the attic, which were picked up at auction for two bits apiece, it seems peculiar that Britain's Windsors now can trace theirs back to the third century.

This masterpiece of imagination has been pulled off for the forthcoming coronation of the latest member of the family to make good in the termite-tail league, young Queen Elizabeth.

The genius who did it is named L. G. Pine, the editor of Burke's Peerage, which is the stud book of European royalty. Previously, the best the peerless editors of the Peerage had been able to do for the Windsors was to retrace their errant footsteps to the ninth century.

The 600-year leap into antiquity has landed the Windsors in the reign of a king named Woden, apparently the same Woden who gave his name to Wednesday, originally Woden's Day. So little is known about this character as a matter of fact that he usually is referred to as a god, instead of a leading politician of his day. But it's a thought.

Someone invented Thursday, too. That would have been Thor, who had the temper of a banty rooster and was always picking fights. He lipped.

"I'm there," he used to holler when he came busting through the swinging doors on Saturday night. Pretty soon the boys were saying, "Bottoms up, here comes Thor." A careless printer dropped the final E in the fifth century when he boffed his finger with a chisel.

It has never been revealed up to now how our family was started by Thor one spring when he went over the mountain to see what was on the other side. Due to the nature of the circumstances, it seemed wiser to let the skeleton hang quietly in the closet.

But as spring ripened into summer and summer languished into fall, Thor had himself a time. Eventually, there were so many Thors on the other side of the mountain that old wise-heimers began to talk about having a Thors Day for Thor's progeny.

The idea was to lock them up before the beginning of the long weekend so the constable could live at home quietly with his family until Monday morning.

And to this day, Thursday, or Thursday as it came to be known when a printer picked up a U instead of an O one Thursday morning, is maid's day out.

Also to this day, the numerous progeny of the "thorhead" who was the first drummer of his time to get to the other side of the mountain have a feeling of kinship with their ancestor.

Come Thursday, they dream of what lies on the other side of the mountain. Dear old Grampaw Thor, you rascal you.

The Realists With Their Feet on the Ground

A Cry For Unity

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

The genius of the American people is progress through differences. It has been the constant interplay of individual responses to the challenges of problems that has made it possible for our people to achieve so much in the atmosphere of freedom.

Tyrants demand unity of thought and attitude, and when they achieve it, as Hitler and Stalin did, they reduce a people to physical or spiritual slavery, or both. Unity is the antithesis of liberty. It can only produce an intellectual smog.

We are now witnessing a not unusual phenomenon, for our country, of a strong effort on the part of New Dealers, professional internationalists, gay do-gooders and even Communists muscling into the Republican party.

THEIR CRY is for unity. Let all the smart boys who made the mistakes that wrecked us in Asia and lost for us a war we had won in Europe, continue to have a good time despoiling the United States and all in the name of unity!

Even if it were possible that the Eisenhower victory could be twisted into nothing more serious than a toned-down Achesonism, it would be harmful to the country to lessen debate, to avoid investigations into the errors made over a 20 year period and their causes.

The temper of the country would not permit a pall of orchids over the nice people who have caused such confusion.

Nice people can do frightful mischief sometimes as, for instance, the activities of Alger Hiss, to say nothing of Frederick Vanderbilt Field, who is the nicest of them all.

THE OPPOSITE of unity, politically in America, is not disunity; it is intellectual and spiritual freedom; it is difference of opinion, constantly expressed; it is the investigation of cause and effect in public affairs.

The opposite of unity is the two-party system, a wholesome political mechanism which prevents the "ins" from becoming flaccid and corrupt and proud of place; and keeps the "outs" hammering away at the facts of life, not only in search of the truth, but as a justification for throwing the "ins" out.

When the Republicans were eating thistles in the desert for 20 years, they were ardent supporters of the two-party system, making a fetish of it.

Already some of them are shouting, Unity! And by that they mean that everybody should get behind them blindly and should criticize nothing.

In the intoxication of a long-delayed victory, they are not thinking clearly.

I HAVE BEEN Republican for these 20 lifeless years, believing ardently in the two-party system, recognizing the great advantage of free criticism of government. Victory cannot dispel a fundamental principle; success can only strengthen the correctness of an ideal.

The current outcry for unity seems to be most articulate, even vehement, among the internationalists who hope that the policies of American support for the economies of Great Britain and the Western European countries will be continued without even the slightest reappraisal of the past and without any adjustment to the economy of our country. They are stand-patters.

Their orthodoxy in international relations narrows their vision so that while they can gaze at the world, they do not see the United States of America.

THEIR GREATEST fear is that any new look at world affairs will establish the bankruptcy of both the Marshall Plan concept of European aid and the containment policy in Europe while giving the Russians a free hand in Asia.

When they insist upon unity, they do not mean behind Eisenhower but in support of the Acheson appeasement of Soviet Russia while giving the appearance of bellicose intentions.

These internationalists object to Eisenhower's concern over Korea. They would have him forget Korea and the 123,000 American casualties there and to devote himself rather to Anthony Eden and the forthcoming British request for aid but calling it something else.

These internationalists do not read the election returns correctly.

Gen. Eisenhower was chosen, among other reasons, on the Korean issue.

When Eisenhower said that he would go to Korea personally he won the election. It is not that such a trip will solve any problem; it was rather that every mother felt that here was a man who could be trusted to look after her boy.

That confidence in Gen. Eisenhower should not be dispelled by any shouting by New Dealers for unity.

Value of Visit to Korea

By RAYMOND MOLEY

Six weeks ago in this column I presented the views of Raymond Moley, Jr., concerning the need to train more South Korean troops.

My son served as a naval lieutenant not only in the 1950 advance with the South Korean Capital Division but later for many months under Adm. Joy in the true trust at Panmunjom. His views, which were written before the training of ROK's became an issue, were later paralleled by Gen. Van Fleet's letter.

I have asked my son for his opinion on the probable value of a visit by Gen. Eisenhower to Korea at this time.

Here is his reply:

"The first of the many beneficial results that will certainly come from a personal visit by Gen. Eisenhower to the front in Korea will be in the inspiration and encouragement it will give to the forces fighting there, from the high brass to the lower ranks. In my two years in Korea and Japan I found a feeling among all levels of our forces that the government and the people at home were beginning to forget the hard facts of our war in Korea. Many of the officers believed with some bitterness that the government was placing more emphasis upon other possible trouble spots, such as Europe, than upon the real situation in Korea.

"Moreover, we now see in the confused and in part self-contradictory replies to the Eisenhower-Van Fleet charges about ROK training how difficult it is to get the truth about a war that is so far away. President Truman's assertion about orders to build up ROK divisions was flatly denied by Brig. Gen. Cornelius Ryan, head of the Korean Military Advisory Group. Ryan certainly is in a position to know. So is Gen. Van Fleet.

"At once, Gen. Eisenhower in a visit to the front can banish this feeling of neglect and this confusion of counsel.

"No one but Eisenhower, who is not only a great and experienced commander but the newly chosen commander-in-chief, can give the assurance to the forces that they rank first among the concerns of the American people, the government, and the President-elect himself. Nothing could so bolster the morale of our men over there.

"He can inspect the ROK's and judge their fighting qualities for himself. He can inspect present methods of training them and see for himself how well we have been equipping them. Finally, he can talk with the officers and high command in language they can understand. Meanwhile, his liaison people in Washington can supply him with the facts from that end.

"The net of the whole business, aside from giving a lift to the morale of the U. N. troops, will be a sharp estimate of our present tactics, the feasibility of new methods, and the possibility of bringing the war to a successful end. Eisenhower is perfectly equipped to make that sort of determination.

"Altogether we shall have an expert, fresh appraisal of this war and the problems it has raised. That cannot but be a great benefit for all concerned."

THOUGHT FOR TODAY

An excuse is worse and more terrible than a lie; for an excuse is a lie guarded—Pope.

Once Over

By H. I. PHILLIPS

Golf With Ike

First Hole.—Ike starts for tee but is halted by message from White House which he knows will add five strokes to the first nine holes. He reaches tee and is trying to relax when a courier arrives with supplemental note. It causes him to top his drive into rough. He gets out in two strokes which is not bad, considering the world crisis.

He gets a good third shot, due to the fact there is no further word from Washington on that hole.

He dubs his approach on a report another courier has been sighted.

Upon making the green he takes two extra putts because of the Korean situation and two because of news from Berlin.

Second Hole.—Ike is into his backswing when he gets an inquiry from President Truman asking what date he will require a plane to Korea. He goes so deep into the rough that he thinks he is already in Korea.

Finds ball under a rock between five cameramen and seven correspondents.

He claims right to lift ball under a rule that correspondents are in such shape because of wrong election predictions that they constitute "ground under repair."

Gets onto green in ten, with four strokes missing. Opponent refuses to grant him a two-inch putt.

Ike finds that while an opponent may concede a man an election he will never concede him a putt.

Third Hole.—He dubs his drive, due to a message from Arthur Summerfield and Sen. Taft.

After missing his second shot the caddy hands him a different club. "Why a different club?" he asks. "It's time for a change," says the caddy.

He gets to green in six. A courier arrives with a top secret message. Ike takes seven putts and classifies his score as top secret.

Fourth Hole.—He asks if any couriers are in sight before he addresses the ball. Gets a negative reply.

He has become so accustomed to interruptions that the lack of one throws him off his game even more.

His short drive bounces from a political correspondent to a newsreel camera to a newspaper photographer to a couple of spectators and lands in a trap.

"You should have brought a bigger niblick," says the caddy.

"I should have brought NATO," replies Ike. (The score on this hole is referred to United Nations.)

Fifth Hole.—He gets a fine drive. Two more couriers fly in with messages from Truman.

Ultimately making the green, he finds top-secret letters from the Central Intelligence Bureau, Sen. Milliken and the manager of his Gettysburg farm. The war news, the budgetary situation and the hay bills cost him nine putts.

He decides he is not even a world war golfer (out in 41, back in 46).

Eighteenth Hole (Two hours later).—Flash: With 13 holes missing, Eisenhower's total score is declared enemy propaganda.

We were out fishing the other day and encountered a fishless angler who complained, "They bit better before Ike got in."

A kid held in a double murder was a follower of video horror films. . . . One story is that when asked just when he found the crime telecasts he replied, "Always between the screening of the Seal of Good Practice and the Code of Morals."

Why shouldn't Eisenhower play a fairly good golf game? . . . Having driven the English Channel, a waterhole never bothers him. . . . We hear that on an important shot Ike heard a locomotive whistle blow and looked up. . . . Thought it was another whistle stop. . . .

We hope Ike will decide one thing as a result of his Georgia vacation: Does golf come under the head of war or peace?

"Truman told Stevenson he regarded him as head of the party and would do everything to help him." . . . If this doesn't scare Adlai stiff nothing will. . . .

Ima Dodo thinks the new drama "Climate of Eden" is a story of England's famous Anthony.

What did Wayne Morse mean by saying he would send no congrats to Ike "because I am no hypocrite"? . . . Is a good sport a hypocrite, bub?

Shantz Named American League Most Valuable Player

Skippin' Around

By SKIP GREENISEN

The Salem Hunting Club, an organization of district sportsmen, is doing its part to better the relationships between hunters and farmers this year with a new idea.

The club has issued to some 200 members of the club cards similar to the one duplicated in this column. Hunters will present the card to the farmers of the district prior to hunting in their fields and over their land.

The local club is the second hunting organization to do such a project, the other being the Wayne County Sportsmen's Club in Lansing, Mich.

Officers of the Salem club, President George Peterson, Vice-President Robert Bradley, Secretary Don Cannon, and Treasurer Homer Reese, hope that the farmers of the district will cooperate with the hunters who present them the cards. Relationships in past seasons between hunters and farmers have not been up to par and the club hopes to better the conditions.

The card reads as follows:

A Salem Hunting Club Member

ASK THE FARMER FIRST

Hunter's or Fisherman's Name _____

Address _____

Number _____

(Salem Hunting Club Membership Number)

1952-1953

This Card Expires May 1st, 1953

Mr. Land Owner:

May The Salem Hunting Club, Inc., introduce to you a member of this non-profit association of sportsmen dedicated to the cause of conservation and sportsmanship. We ask you to allow him to hunt or fish upon your lands and waters with the understanding that he will observe all laws and conduct himself as a gentleman and a sportsman. This card bears his name, address and S. H. C. membership number and is to be given you with the understanding that, if after he has finished hunting or fishing you find he has injured your property or livestock in any way, you will notify the Secretary of the S. H. C. and upon proper showing of proof, you will be compensated for the damage done not to exceed $50.00. Of course, as a member of the S. H. C. he has the good name of his fellow sportsmen in his hands and we do not contemplate that he will dishonor it, but we take this action to assure you of his and our good faith and appreciation for the courtesy you extend. For this we thank you and hope that this action will stimulate in increased regard for property rights on the part of all hunters and fishermen and a favorable opinion of organized sportsmen on the part of land owners.

The hunting club will hold the first of a series of turkey and chicken shoots Sunday at 1 p. m. at the club grounds, both for the use of shotguns and rifles.

The club plans to hold the shoots every two weeks as long as the weather permits and the public is invited to compete in the shoots.

Twenty-two calibre rifles will be permitted in the shoot, the officers announced, but they must not be high powered and have only peep sights. There will also be bench rest shooting for the riflemen.

Shotgun shells for the shoot will be furnished at the club grounds but the .22 rifle ammunition must be furnished by the shooter. The rifle shells will be available for purchase at the grounds.

The two district game wardens, Rufus Lide of Columbiana County and Earl Ressler of Mahoning County, are cautioning hunters to be careful with cigarettes and matches tomorrow when the 1952 hunting season opens.

The two wardens related that dry weather conditions in this area make it dangerous for hunters, farmers' property and small game since fires are easily started with this type of weather.

No changes in their starting lineups have been indicated by Coaches Ben Barrett and Bud Bucher of Salem and Lisbon, respectively. The two grid mentors will stick to the lineups which they gave in the earlier part of the week for the 42nd meeting between the two schools. The game is scheduled for tonight at 7:45 and is expected to be a real thriller by both coaches and spectators.

Salem High School had a pep assembly this afternoon for the annual football contest and a snake dance through the city streets followed the assembly. The high school band led the snake dance which broke up at Reilly Stadium.

A's Ace Pitcher Wants $35,000 For 1953 Season

Yanks' Allie Reynolds Runner-up For Title; Indians Mentioned

By JOE REICHLER
NEW YORK (AP)—Pint-sized Bobby Shantz, fortified by the American League's Most Valuable Player Award for 1952, is going to demand a giant-sized increase in his pay check when he sits across the table from General Manager Art Ehlens of the Philadelphia Athletics Monday.

The wee left-hander is expected to ask for $35,000, an increase of almost 200 per cent over what he received during the past season for winning 24 games while dropping only seven for the fourth place Athletics.

Shantz's 1952 salary was only $12,000 as he topped the American League pitchers in games won and finished high up in the earned-run average column.

Bobby sought to talk contract with Ehlens last week but the A's general manager told the little hurler:

"Let's not talk contract now. I've got to see X-rays of your broken wrist first. I don't want to sign a pitcher without an arm."

Shantz fractured a left wrist bone in the final week of the past season.

Ehlens' refusal to talk contract at that time probably will cost the Athletics several thousand dollars.

Bobby Shantz

For since then the 27-year-old southpaw has received the league's highest honor—the first time a non-championship club player has won the award since Ted Williams of Boston in 1949. The last Philadelphia to be honored was Jimmy Fox in 1933.

Shantz received 16 of the possible 24 first place votes cast by two dozen members of the Baseball Writers Association of America. He rolled up a total of 280 votes for a wide margin over Allie Reynolds, ace of the New York Yankees' pitching staff.

Reynolds, third last year, polled 183 points. He was followed by two of his teammates—Mickey Mantle and Yogi Berra. Early Wynn of Cleveland, Ferris Fain of the Athletics, Nelly Fox of Chicago and a trio of Cleveland players—Bob Lemon, Mike Garcia and Al Rosen—round out the first 10.

"I don't want to be unreasonable but I think I am entitled to a pretty good increase," said Shantz. "I realize that the Athletics don't draw as many people as, for instance, the Yankees and Indians, and probably can't afford to pay as much money as I feel I am worth. But taking everything into consideration I don't think I am asking for too much."

Bobby said his arm feels sound again and he is certain he can pick up where he left off when he was hit by a ball thrown by Walt Masterson of Washington while at bat.

Shantz expects the A's to be in the thick of the 1953 pennant race and predicted the Yankees again will be the team to beat.

Bill McKinley To Speak Here Monday Night

Bill McKinley

Bill McKinley, American League baseball umpire who hails from Kinsman, O., will be the guest speaker at the United Commercial Travelers of Salem "guest night party" Monday night at 8 p. m. at the American Legion Hall.

McKinley, popular arbitrator who umpired the recent World Series between the Yankees and Dodgers, is a fine speaker and is just beginning his usual winter work of the banquet circuit. A veteran of 12 years service, five in the Minor Leagues and the last seven in the America League, he will show two baseball films to the UCT members and their guests. The movies are entitled "The Democracy of Baseball" and "The Umpire in Baseball."

The speaker is expected to discuss the movies and also speak on the recent series and other incidents over his umpiring career. McKinley claims it took him ten days to get over the nervous tension of the Series, his first, and believes he really "got a corker for baptism."

The Salem council will also have as a guest their Supreme Counselor of the UCT organization, Willard H. Parks of Hastings, Neb. He will also give a brief talk at the party.

Senior Counselor Charles Knisley and Sec. Trea. Ray Reich expect some 200 or more members and their guests at the meeting. A lunch will be served following the program.

Adolph Rupp To Continue Cage Coaching

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP)—Adolph Rupp, whose coaching ability has kept Kentucky at the top of the nation's basketball teams, will be around for at least four more seasons, possibly more.

"I'll not retire until the man who said Kentucky can't play in the NCAA hands me the national championship trophy."

The veteran tutor told a civic club Thursday he wanted to spike rumors of his pending retirement—rumors whose origin he can't explain.

Rupp also stated that the causes that led to action against Kentucky by the NCAA and the Southeastern Conference "were completely beyond our control." The school has maintained that gifts to players were made without knowledge of university authorities.

Despite this, the SEC suspended the school in basketball this year and the National Collegiate Athletic Association Council recommended probation, suggesting other NCAA members not play Kentucky.

Both actions stemmed from the involvement of former players in the nation-wide cage fix scandal.

20 Salem, Lisbon Seniors Playing Final Game Tonight

Twenty seniors will play their final scholastic football game tonight at Reilly Stadium in the Salem-Lisbon grid battle.

Twelve Salem seniors and eight Lisbon seniors will be playing their last football game as high school athletes when the two squads meet in their traditional fray.

Gridders who will be playing their final grid game in a Quaker uniform include nine linemen and three backfield members, four of the total of whom were non-lettermen when the season opened. Nelson Mellinger, co-captain of the team, Bill Crookston and Joe Hrovatic will be the three backfield graduates while the linemen will include Don McCormick, co-captain of the team, Jim Hrovatic, Jon Zeigler, Wayne Ickes, Jack Ference, Bob Metcalf, Gilbert Allison, Denton Herron and Dick Cope.

Zeigler, however, will definitely be out of action it was learned today, the tackle letterman having a compound fracture of his foot. Only Allison, Cope and Herron are non-lettermen along with Bob Metcalf, a transfer student from Mecca High School where he never played football before since the school doesn't compete in the sport. A tackle, Metcalf has done exceptionally well in his initial year out, playing defense most of the time and then replacing Zeigler in the starting offensive lineup when the latter was injured.

Of the 12 men departing from football from Salem 8 will be in the Quakers' starting lineup against the Blue Devils.

Lisbon footballers who will see action in their final football game in high school competition include Dick Bosel, Bill Jones, Jack A. Pike, Dick Moore, Dick Woods, Ray Crosser, Glen Adams, and Vinson Weyant. Like Salem only three of the gridders are in the backfield while the other five are linemen. Six of the departing Blue Devils will be with the starting eleven tonight. Bosel and Moore will be at ends, Jones at tackle, Pike at center, Woods at quarterback and Weyant at the halfback post.

Two Cage Meetings Slated Next Week

Two city league basketball meetings will be held next week at the Memorial Building. Ward Zeller, city recreational director, announced today.

Zeller will meet with coaches or representatives of Class B teams Monday at 7 p. m. and with the Class A representatives Tuesday. Girls League representatives will converse the following week.

There will be a limit of eight Class A teams in the league this year but the Class B loop won't be limited unless necessary, Zeller related.

Action for the city loops is expected to start Dec. 1, Zeller stated.

Cleveland Favored Sunday By 14 Points

CLEVELAND (AP)—Cleveland's Browns, favored by 14 points, expect fewer problems this Sunday when they go after their second victory from Pittsburgh's Steelers.

Hobbled by injuries from the season's opening game, the Browns just did win the first one, 21-20, from the Steelers. Only a blocked kick saved the day.

But this time the Steelers face all the aces of Coach Paul Brown's tricky offense—not just Quarterback Otto Graham, Fullback Marion Motley and end Mac Speedie.

Back and in top shape are End Dante Lavelli and Halfback Ken Carpenter, who topped a list of injury-benched Browns in the last Pittsburgh game.

The Browns, with a 5-2 record, are tied with New York for first in pro football's American Division. Pittsburgh lost five and won two-but four of those losses were by six points or less.

Ohio Hunting Season Opens Saturday For Some 500,000

By FRITZ HOWELL
COLUMBUS, O. (AP)—Ohio's hunting season opens Saturday and a shotgun-armed horde of some 500,000 nimrods will invade the Buckeye brush and brae.

Rabbits and pheasants will provide the big targets, but Hungarian partridge and grouse also may be taken.

The rabbit is a fairly-small four-legged animal with a cotton-ball tail. The pheasant is a multi-colored bird, with two wings and a long tail. Neither resembles a man, which has two legs and is generally clothed in khaki-colored hunting garb.

Despite the difference in appearance, however, the chances are some of the hunters will be taken for rabbits or pheasants. Last year seven hunters were killed in Ohio, and 112 injured. The year before 16 died and 174 hurt.

Many of the accidents occur because of unfamiliarity with firearms on the part of the hunters, many of whom handle a gun only on the season's opening day. Extreme care must be taken in climbing fences, in the manner of carrying a firearm, and in the selection of targets, if the human toll is to be lowered. Then, too, there's the oldest axiom of the outdoors—"don't mix alcohol and gunpowder."

A year ago 3,243,500 rabbits were killed by Ohio's hunters, a 30 percent drop under 1950. A similar decrease is expected this year, with the Eastern and Southern counties offering the better hunting grounds. The pheasant population also is down for the year, but chances are last year's harvest of 903,150 birds will be matched. The 1950 pheasant kill was 930,000.

The dry fall allowed farmers to harvest their crops earlier this year, reducing the amount of cover for the birds and forcing many of them into the open, enhancing the hunters' chance for a shot at them.

If you found pheasant a year ago, you'll find 'em in the same spots this season, the conservation department experts believe, although the number may be down a bit.

State forests are closed to hunters, because of the forest fire hazard, which will hamper the grouse and raccoon hunters. However, if a drenching rain falls, the forests may be opened.

On the other hand, if the dry spell continues, the entire hunting season may be halted should a series of fire break out. The conservation department cautions against dropping matches, cigarettes or cigars, and against the building of warming fires in the open.

The partridge season is Ohio's first in several years, and the birds—of low population density—are found mostly in 14 Western Ohio counties from Logan to Williams. Grouse are found in the 45-county area along the Eastern and Southern border from Ashtabula to Adams County, with Fairfield and Ashland Counties as the western edge.

So, good luck, Saturday! But be sure it's a rabbit, pheasant, grouse or partridge before you shoot—and hand your gun to a companion before climbing a fence.

The announcement of the two men as candidates for the presidency of the club was made by President Jackson at the weekly meeting of the club last night in the Memorial Building.

Zeller presently serves as vice-president of the club. Both candidates are active in the activities of the club.

The present Booster president also announced that John Pastier and Al Paxson were nominated for vice-president for 1953, succeeding Zeller. Pastier now is the treasurer of the club.

Clair "Bob" Leeper is the only member of the present officers who is up for re-election in the same office. Leeper and Aldon Smith will run for the position of secretary of the club.

John Sebo and John McCormick were named as candidates for treasurer, succeeding Pastier.

President Jackson and Homer Haldeman were nominated to fill the Board of Directors' position being vacated by Fred Cope.

The club will hold its annual election next Thursday night at the Memorial Building to determine the officers for next year and a large turnout is expected for the election.

Bucks In Top Condition For Illinois Game

COLUMBUS, O. (AP)—Ohio State University footballers will practice this afternoon in Champaign's Memorial Stadium, site of Saturday's Western Conference game with Illinois.

Coach Woody Hayes made one shift in the starting offensive line-up in an attempt to bring more weight to the backfield against the Illini.

Bob Watkins, 5 foot 9, 182 pounder, will replace Howard (Hopalong) Cassidy, 168 pound freshman flash, at right half. Hayes said he hoped the quick-hitting Watkins would be especially effective in split T operations.

Cassidy, however, will see much action, Hayes said.

In Thursday's 70 minute drill, Fullback John Hlay impressed his coaches. With the aerial aid provided by John Borton, the coaching staff feel the Bucks can give Illinois a real battle.

Four members of the traveling roster left by train for Champaign Thursday night and 36 Ohio Staters flew to the scene of action this morning.

Team physicians said the Bucks were in good shape. End Bob Joslin was the only doubtful participant because of his knee ailment.

But Illini Coach Ray Eliot was so concerned with injuries, he ruled out bodily contact in practice this week.

Final Regular Games Set In Touch Football Loop

Since last week's touch football games were postponed because of bad weather, the schedule for this Sunday at Centennial Park will pit the same teams that were slated last week.

Lisbon and Pasco's Plumbing will square off in the initial game of the afternoon at 1:30 while Ehrhart's Browns and Kozars will tangle in the 2:30 contest.

The Lisbon outfit is presently atop the five-team league while Ehrhart's Browns and the Salem Amvets are deadlocked for second position. Pasco's Plumbing holds fourth place in the loop with a slim edge over Kozars.

Next week League Director Ward Zeller plans to inaugurate the annual playoffs with the first four teams of the loop competing.

The University of North Carolina has played in three post-season bowl games—twice in the Sugar Bowl and once in the Cotton Bowl.

Michigan State-Notre Dame Game Week's Top Contest

By RIF WATSON
NEW YORK (AP)—The 1952 college football season, an extravagant production from the opening curtain, moves toward the closing scenes tomorrow with the current bowl game contenders in supporting roles and two non-bowl teams taking over the center of the stage.

Conference crowns and roles in the Jan. 1 bowl extravaganzas will be awarded the winners of several key games, but all must give way to Notre Dame-Michigan State clash at East Lansing, Mich., as the day's top attraction. Notre Dame pulled the upset of the week last Saturday in toppling Oklahoma, and the big question now is can the Fighting Irish do it again against the nation's No. 1 team.

Knocking off the nation's best and ending a 22-game winning streak are not the only incentives for Notre Dame, however. State's hard-running stable of backs ran up a 35-0 score on the Irish last year, and that's the worst drubbing ever handed a Frank Leahy team. Notre Dame could skyrocket its present sixth-ranking with a victory.

bowl classics. UCLA has an open date tomorrow.

The other entry likely will be determined tomorrow at Ann Arbor, Mich., where Purdue, No. 10 in the poll, invades Michigan in the Big 10's climax game. Purdue is 3-0 in the conference and Michigan 3-1. Wisconsin, also 3-1, is heavily favored over Indiana.

The Cotton Bowl host, an automatic reservation for the Southwest Conference champion, will be Texas if the league leaders can get past old rival Texas Christian. But TCU has beaten Texas in upsets before and could do it again.

Texas is No. 9 in the poll.

Another conference championship due to be settled, although the winner won't be eligible for bowls, is that in the Big Seven. Missouri, which has won four league games in a row, is a three-touchdown underdog tovengeful Oklahoma, winner of three straight conference games after an opening loss to Colorado. Oklahoma is No. 8 in the poll.

Talks On North Polar Air Routes To Europe Started

WASHINGTON (AP)—The airlines and the federal government started talks this week about North Polar air routes to Europe and who should fly them.

Representatives of the Air Transport Association—the airlines' organization—and several individual airlines including Pan American and Western, met with members of the Civil Aeronautics Board. Further and more detailed discussions are in prospect.

Much in the foreground of the discussions are the plans of Scandinavian Airlines System (SAS).

SAS plans to ferry one of its new DC6B airplanes next week from the factory at Santa Monica, Calif., by way of Canada and Thule Greenland, to Scandinavia. A second plane is to be similarly ferried later this year.

The airline hopes with these two trips to "prove" a new route from the U. S. West Coast to Northern Europe some 10 hours shorter than the existing route by way of New York City.

Denmark, Norway and Sweden have filed separate notes within the past six weeks asking the State Department for consultations on the amendment of existing bi-lateral air transport agreements. The State Department plans soon to reply that it will be happy to take part in such consultations.

Before the meetings, however, the State Department and the CAB want to sound out the plans and wishes of U. S. airlines regarding polar travel.

Pan American already has authority to operate a route from the United States to Moscow. For obvious reasons, this route never has been actually established.

There also are reports that Western and Northwest Airlines are interested in the possibility of extending their routes to the north. To date, however, the following are the only requests for polar routes on file with the CAB:

1. Alaska Airlines: A proposal filed in October, 1951, for a route from Fairbanks to Paris by way of Oslo and London.

2. Wein Alaska Airlines: A proposal filed early this year for a route from Fairbanks to Oslo, Stockholm, Copenhagen, London, Paris and Berlin.

Hagerty also was asked whether Eisenhower ever had considered making such a trip as president-elect or president.

"I haven't heard of anything (along that line) at any time," Hagerty replied.

When he was campaigning, Eisenhower said he would go anywhere to see anybody if he thought it would help win world peace. But he also said he would have to have some advance specific evidence indicating such a trip would produce results.

Aides said Eisenhower planned to talk over with Dewey international and domestic problems which they expect will be discussed when the President-elect and Truman confer at the White House Tuesday afternoon.

Truman suggested last week that such a conference be held in the interests of orderly transition from the Democratic to the Republican regime.

Eisenhower has named two liaison men to work with the Truman administration until inauguration day, Jan. 20. They are Sen. Henry Cabot Lodge of Massachusetts and Joseph M. Dodge, Detroit banker.

Dodge already is at work in the Budget Bureau, serving as an observer at preparation of the federal budget for the fiscal year starting July 1. It will be submitted to Congress in January, before Eisenhower takes office.

Lodge is liaison man to all other federal agencies. He said in Washington last night he might have a confidential report ready for Eisenhower in time for the general's meeting with Truman Tuesday.

Dodge called yesterday on Sen. Harry F. Byrd (D-Va.) for advice on money matters. Byrd, long-time economy advocate and frequent critic of the Truman administration, refused during the campaign to support his party's presidential nominee, Gov. Adlai Stevenson.

New Crime Overlord Replaced Costello, FBI Official Tells

NEW YORK (AP)—A federal official said today he has been informed that wealthy ex-convict Thomas (Three-Finger Brown) Luchese has replaced imprisoned Frank Costello as the new crime overlord.

The testimony was made to the New York State Crime Commission, probing the underworld's influence in politics.

George White, New England supervisor for the Federal Bureau of Narcotics, said his information was that Luchese, a garment manufacturer, who lives in Palisades, N. Y., is the new "coordinator of rackets"—now that Costello has gone to jail.

White said Luchese purportedly has assigned "group leaders" in various geographical divisions of the United States, while he "acted as coordinator."

Costello, convicted of contempt of the U. S. Senate Crime Committee, was sent to the federal prison in Atlanta, Ga., several months ago.

It was the second day of commission public hearings on links between politicians and organized crime.

Former General Sessions Judge Francis X. Mancuso testified, on the first day of the State Crime Commissions resumed public hearings, that two men "came to my club one Sunday afternoon" after the 1950 mayoralty election and suggested he quit as a Manhattan Democratic organization leader.

Mancuso identified the men as Joseph L. (Joey) Rao and Joseph (Joe Stretch) Stracci, reputed underworld characters. Mancuso said he refused the suggestion at the time, but later decided not to run for re-election to Tammany.

A detainer has been placed against the trio after they were arrested in Tallahassee, Fla., last week for car theft and a safe robbery.

The three are also wanted by West Virginia authorities for a car theft and jail breaking, and federal authorities are investigating in connection with the transportation of a stolen car across state lines.

The men have been identified as Tommy E. Cathel, Delbert L. Johnson and Walter S. Smith, all from West Virginia.

PTA Schedules Benefit Game

Music Study Club Holds Meeting

COLUMBIANA—The Columbiana Parent-Teacher organization decided at its November meeting in the High School auditorium, Wednesday evening, to sponsor a benefit at the request of the promoters of the basketball game between the Columbiana Youngs and the New York Colored Clowns in the High School gym Saturday evening, Dec. 6.

Tickets may be obtained at the Western Auto Supply. The promoters expect a large crowd, with requests for twice as many seats as the 1,400 available in the gym. Reservations are being received from Youngstown, Salem, East Palestine and other points.

Tickets may also be obtained at the Photo Service & Supply, S. Main St., and at Young's Tavern. Other attractions tentatively arranged for Columbiana are the Cleveland Browns and the Detroit Vagabonds. Eliminations will start early next week to reduce the Youngs to a squad of 12, which will probably include four area coaches, Richard Berryman of Columbiana, who was a member of champions in 1947; Ted Ossoff of Fairfield Centralized; Jack Swinderman of East Palestine, and Harry Krall of Leetonia.

BESIDES VOTING to sponsor the basketball classic, the P.T.A. decided to help the Booster Club pay for a coffee maker purchased for the home economics department. A school health committee was appointed, consisting of Mrs. Clyde Richards, Mrs. T. A. King, Mrs. Harry Snodgrass and Mrs. Florence Campbell.

Elaine Carroll of WKBN, Youngstown, speaker of the evening, talked on "Self Education," and said anyone can do anything if he wants to do it badly enough. Sixty were in attendance. Lunch was served in conclusion.

The Columbiana Music Study Club met in the Presbyterian church, Wednesday evening, with 20 members of the Struthers club as its guests. After the opening with the singing of the hymn of the month, "O Lord of Heaven, Earth and Sea," three Ohio sketches were given; composers by Mrs. C. E. Bender, artists, by Mrs. R. E. Weaver, and Ohio folk music by Mrs. Homer Culp. The musical program that followed consisted of these numbers:

Piano solo, "Fantasy Impromptu," Mrs. Robert Cline piano numbers, "Prelude in C Minor," "Nola," and "Rumba Boogie," by Miss Polly Way, and vocal solos, "If I Could Tell You," and "You Are the Song in My Heart," by Mrs. Robert Ross, accompanied by Mrs. Paul McNab.

Doctors Puzzled Over Girl's Case In India

MADRAS India (AP) — Medical men puzzled today over a pretty 17-year-old girl who says she has taken neither food nor water for the past six months and hasn't lost an ounce of weight.

The girl whose name is Dhanalakshmi, has been under medical observation in a hospital in Mercara, capital of the Southwest Indian state of Coorgs, for the past two weeks.

The state's health minister told newsmen: "Her case is astonishing. While we wait for an answer, Dhanalakshmi lives gay and vivacious as ever."

The girl reportedly developed an aversion to food and water in 1949 and six months ago began refusing to take any at all.

GOP Finance Expert's Meeting With Truman Aide Wise Move

By ARTHUR EDSON
(For JAMES MARLOW)

WASHINGTON (AP) — It's appropriate that the first representative of Dwight D. Eisenhower to meet with the Truman administration should be a financial expert who will watch the preparation of the budget.

For on no issue have the Republicans been as persistent as on the subject of government spending. For instance, a year ago Sen. Styles Bridges of New Hampshire said of the proposed 71½ billion dollar budget:

"If Stalin himself were given the opportunity to weaken America from within, he could scarcely produce a plan better calculated to destroy this government. We are being asked, literally, to spend ourselves to ruin."

As the ranking Republican on the Senate Appropriations Committee, Bridges will be its chairman in the new Congress.

Two years ago, when Truman proposed a 42 billion dollar budget to Congress, Rep. John Taber of New York said:

"We can not maintain our liberties if we turn this money over to the President and the Socialist schemers who surround him."

Taber will be the new chairman of the House Appropriations Committee.

More recently, Eisenhower himself has said of Democratic spending:

"We see an expenditure program that...appears reckless and extravagant to the point of sheer folly."

Joseph M. Dodge, the Detroit banker who is Eisenhower's liaison man to the Budget Bureau, went to work Wednesday. He said he would neither recommend nor disapprove—just watch.

But in view of Republican statements on government economy, dating back for 20 years, it's a fair guess that his instructions are:

Keep your eyes peeled for any place where we can save money.

In final form, the explanation of how a president thinks this country should spend its money each year adds up to a document the size of a metropolitan telephone book.

And the money goes for such a variety of things:

Billions for defense, and $10,000 to welcome visiting dignitaries to the nation's capital.

Billions for foreign relief, and $10,520 to fulfill a treaty made with the Pawnee Indians of Oklahoma.

Millions for each government department, and $150 to remove the snow, if any, from the Supreme Court steps.

The new budget—for the government year beginning July 1, 1953—has a touch of irony.

NAVY'S NEW Super Constellation, shown in flight for first time, over California, has four turbo-compound engines equivalent to six of the power plants which drove the first Constellation 10 years ago. With total 13,000 horsepower, new Super can cruise faster than 340 mph, hit nearly 400.

By law, a president must make his estimates within 15 days after the opening of a regular session of Congress. The new Republican Congress meets Jan. 3, and Truman's budget proposals must be available by Jan. 17.

On Jan. 20 out goes Truman and in comes Eisenhower.

So one of Truman's last official acts will be to hand to a hostile Congress something it's bound not to like.

But the budget is a proposal, a guide and nothing more. Congress still must authorize and vote the money.

Ex-Slave, 100, Dies Of Car Mishap Injuries

TOLEDO (AP)—John Taylor, reported to be a 100-year-old ex-slave, died last night of injuries suffered Oct. 22 when he was struck by an auto driven by an 84-year-old man.

Miss Mary Johnson, with whom the victim lived, said Taylor was born in Cameron, S. C., "about 100 years ago." She said her father had known the man's family and had often talked about Taylor being born a slave.

The 84-year-old motorist is Curtis M. Van Brimer of Toledo, police said.

WILL BE ARRAIGNED

CAMBRIDGE, O. (AP)—Pat Tomkins, of Cambridge, will be arraigned today in Common Pleas Court on a first degree murder charge. Prosecutor Harry G. Johnson said the grand jury indicted Tomkins Thursday in the death of Thomas Payton, slain in a street fight.

Formosa Typhoon Causes Over 100 Casualties

TAIPEH, Formosa (AP) — More than 100 casualties were reported caused by a typhoon which struck Southern Formosa Thursday.

Outlook Dark For Fall-Grown Grains In 1953

WASHINGTON (AP)—Government food officials are no longer fretting over a big reserve of wheat being stored under a federal price support program.

An Agriculture Department crop report Wednesday drew a dark picture of next year's winter wheat prospects. Because of prolonged dry weather, the outlook for this and other fall-sown grains intended for harvest next year was said to be precarious in many areas.

Thus, unless there is a quick turn in weather conditions the reserve being built up from this year's second largest wheat crop in history would be needed to help meet food and other market demands next year.

The department's semiannual report for the 1952 crop season said production is turning out to be the second largest on record, only 2.5 per cent below the top mark set in 1948. Prospects improved nearly one per cent during October, thanks to unusually favorable harvesting weathers.

This year's farm production—crops and livestock products—will set a new record because the combined output of meat animals, poultry products, milk and wool is by far the largest in history and big enough to offset the 1948 advantage in crops.

Topping this year's crops is a corn yield of 3,303,000,000 bushels, also the second largest on record. This is 10 per cent larger than the average corn crop and nearly 12 per cent larger than last year's crop.

TORY CHAIRMAN ILL
SCARBOROUGH, Eng. (AP) — Anxiety was expressed today for the seriously ill chairman of the Conservative party, Lord Woolton, who suffered a relapse last night.

The 69-year-old political leader became ill early last month. He underwent an operation for a perforated appendix, and peritonitis and lung complications set in.

John Wesley Hyatt, who had more than 250 patents, including celluloid, to his name, gave his name only to the Hyatt roller bearing which he invented in 1888.

News Blackout To Be Levied During Ike's Visit To Korea

SEOUL (AP)—The Eighth Army's public information officer today predicted a news blackout during President-elect Dwight Eisenhower's visit—and said: "If a blackout is ordered it's really going to be one!" Lt. Col. R. P. Rosengren said a final decision had not been made but it was probable the world would get no news of Eisenhower's trip until after he had left this war-torn nation.

House Probers To Hear Agent Intelligence Officer To Give Katyn Data

WASHINGTON (AP)—A former top wartime intelligence officer was summoned by House investigators today to tell whether he suppressed an official wartime report charging the Russians with the murder of 15,000 Polish officers.

Maj. Gen. Clayton Bissell, one-time head of G-2, faces questioning by a special House committee investigating the massacre in Katyn Forest, Western Russia, during World War II.

The general's testimony is expected to conclude week-long hearings to determine whether American officials withheld news of Russia's connection with the massacre to avoid endangering relations with the Soviets during the war.

Bissell handled a special report made by Lt. Col. John H. Van Vliet Jr., who, as a German war prisoner, was taken to Katyn in early 1943 when the Nazis announced finding mass graves of thousands of Poles.

Van Vliet reported in May, 1945, he was convinced by his visit that the Russians committed the murders. Although Moscow blamed the Germans; the report subsequently disappeared.

The committee has reported its investigation proves the Russians slaughtered the Polish leaders to make way for a Communist Poland.

Arthur Hiles Lane, former ambassador to Poland, testified yesterday he understood the Voice of America at first had refused to include in its world-wide broadcasts the findings of the American Committee to Investigate the Katyn Massacre. Lane headed the committee, formed in 1949, which charged the Russians with the killings.

Alan Cranston, a wartime official of the Office of War Information, was recalled for further testimony on his role in what committee members called efforts to censor Polish language radio broadcasts for anti-Russian comments on Katyn.

Canton Bus Walkout Ends As Men Return

CANTON, O. (AP)—Canton's public transportation system went back into operation today following the end of a 30-day strike by bus drivers and maintenance men. Some 36,000 passengers a day were affected.

The 130 members of the AFL union voted Thursday night to stop the walkout and accept a pay increase of 10 cents an hour. National City Lines, Inc., operator of the buses, also granted a contributory pension plan valued at from eight to 10 cents hourly.

Sea Captain Tried; License Suspended

VANCOUVER, B. C. (AP)—A chief officer who admitted his memory lapse led to the loss of a luxury liner on rocks in Alaskan waters Sept. 7 has been beached for six months.

He is Charles W. Savage, who was chief officer aboard the Princess Kathleen when it grounded and later sank near Juneau. There were 300 passengers aboard the ship but all escaped the vessel before it slipped from the rocks into a watery grave.

Justice Sidney Smith yesterday ordered Savage's master's license suspended for one year but recommended that he be given a ticket as a chief officer again after six months. Savage had a master's license at the time of the mishap but was acting as chief officer of the Princess Kathleen.

The seaman admitted through counsel that he was on watch on the bridge at the time of the accident. He admitted he had ordered the quartermaster to alter to a starboard course about 10 minutes before the lookout sighted land close at hand.

Then, he informed the justice, forgetting his previous order he ordered "hard to starboard" a few seconds before the ship slid high upon a rock.

Savage was commended by the government attorney for his candor.

CANDIDATE TO CHECK VOTES

Congressional race which drew 140,000 ballots, said he would check records in county courthouses today before deciding whether to ask for a recount. Rep. James G. Polk, a Democrat, was re-elected according to the original count.
